Recreation Park games scheduled to reconvene within a couple of weeks

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

Streets and parks supervisor Dan DesJarden told the Lowell City Council that he believes a new backstop can be put up at Recreation Park within two weeks.

DesJarden provided the council with a proposed plan for a new shelter at Recreation Park.

From that plan, the council approved paying O.E. Bieri $1,500 to remove the old bleacher and foundation. It will also pay Cedar Springs Fencing $1,695.40 to put up a backstop.

DesJarden's proposal also included a shelter (12 feet high) that measures 96 feet by 20 feet. The estimated cost for this is $16,000. A new foundation for the shelter would cost $2,880. Bleachers (five rows, 15 feet long) were estimated at $6,344.

The council recommended that these proposals be taken to the parks and recreation board for review and discussion.

The Recreation Park grandstand collapsed during a storm on July 22.

Judy Noonon, city finance

director/treasurer, stated that the city's property and liability insurance covers the structure under the policy minus a $1,000 deductible.

The city is not sure of the amount of coverage since a value on the grandstand was not assigned. City manager Dave Pasquale said the reason for that was the structure was old and was not identified as a principle structure in the city's policy.

Noonon said this would be determined by Meadowbrook Insurance Company, which administers the Michigan Municipal Property and Liability Insurance. Pasquale noted that the city would be submitting a cost estimate to Meadowbrook on the reconstruction. "They will be given the estimate to look at and determine if it is a reasonable amount."

Lowell's city manager was not sure how long it would take to determine what the amount of coverage will be.

Exchange students hosted through Rotary International

Through the Rotary International exchange student program, Joris Smeets and Renata Acerbi spent a month in the United States.

Smeets spent the month with the family of James and Rose Ennis of Lowell.

Acerbi spent two weeks with Ennis's and then stayed two weeks with a family in Frankfurt, MI.

"They blended well with my teenagers," Rose Ennis said.

Ennis has two daughters, Julia, 14, and Christy, 16; and a son, Joshua, who is 18 years old.

"Things went well. They did a number of teenage activities," Rose Ennis said. Smeets calls Neerpelt, Belgium home. He is 16 years old and is one of seven children. He said he enjoys photography and in-line skating.

His father, a physician, is also a member of the Rotary Club. Acerbi's home is in Sao Paulo, Brazil. She is 17 years old and is one of three children.

Acerbi enjoys playing the guitar and going to the beach. Her father is a Rotary Club member in Brazil and a businessman.

Wolverine Paving awarded bid for city projects

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

the Creekside Park parking lot.

Three asphalt projects will be seen to their completion before summer breaks.

The city of Lowell contracted Wolverine Paving out of Middleville to patch the lot behind the Department of Public Works building due to the fuel tank removal and remediation; to pave the east-west cemetery road between the second and third additions; and to pave the final course of the Creekside Park parking lot. Wolverine Paving's total bid for the three projects was $21,531.72.

The Middleville company put in a bid of $1,207 for the DPW project; $3,675 for the cemetery road project; and $16,469.22 for Creekside Park.

The project is expected to be completed within the next couple of months.

Full Steam Ahead

... Plans are ongoing for Clarksville's Gas and Steam Association Festival Aug. 18-20

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

The gas and steam engines "that could" back in the early 1900s will be featured at the sixth annual Clarksville Gas and Steam Association Festival on Aug. 18-20.

The festival serves not only as a historical experience but as an educational event as to how the engines were operated.

As the years passed and technology advanced, companies quit producing the steam engine - the last being built in 1928.

Last year's festival raised approximately $1,500. Clarksville Gas and Steam Association vice president Gerald Seese said the money raised through the upcoming three-day festival will be used to purchase land in the Clarksville area. The land will be used to showcase the festival each year. Presently Seese's sons allow the association to use 30 acres of their land.

Included in this year's festivities will be country singer Calvin Power (singing and square dancing), antique tractors' slow race, sawmill parade, threshing, primitive camping, a kiddie peddler tractor pull and a pig roast (Saturday from 5 until 7 p.m.).

The Lake Odessa Christian School and the area Boy Scouts will provide food (hot dogs, sloppy joes and home-made pie) booths.

Last year's festival averaged about 1,000 people a day.

The festival will honor area farmer Irv Stahl.

The event is located on Robbins Road, one mile west of the south village limits.

Lilley given the task to dig new drain field

By Marc Popielek
Contributing Writer

Lowell Charter Township has agreed to hire Jim Lilley to dig its new drain field.

The new field will be located just north of the township's new parking lot on the north side of the property. It is needed to accommodate the added sewage from the township's addition to the township hall.

Lilley outbid Ken Wittenbach by $300 ($3,200 to $3,500) to be awarded the contract.

Timpson said both came with good recommendations, and initially pushed for Wittenbach, but finally agreed with the township board.

The field, whose dimensions have not been determined, will be approximately 18 inches deep and allow the excess water to evaporate.

Michigan receives emergency funds due to severe heat

Michigan will receive $10.8 million in emergency funds from the Federal government due to the severe heat wave in July. Final plans for use of the funds in Michigan have not yet been decided.

In the meantime, the local Departments of Social Services are being encouraged to seek exceptions to pay electric shut-offs and to purchase air conditioners for the aged and medically infirm in emergency situations.

Persons wishing to receive more information, or wishing to apply for emergency help, should contact the Department of Social Services office in the county of their residence.

'94 fair queen reign comes to an end, but Brown continues to care and share her time

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

It was just nine short years ago that Jennifer Brown, the pupil, was receiving instructions from her brother, the teacher, as to the correct way to show a pig at the fair.

Last year was Brown's final year to compete in the showing of livestock at the Kent County Youth Fair.

When that door of opportunity closed, Brown, like so many other past 4-H members, quickly sought the opportunity to share her knowledge and experience with a young, new 4-H member.

Leading up to this year's fair, Brown spent many hours teaching and training nine-year-old Jodi Laux the dos and don'ts of showing rabbits.

Coming full circle in nine short years, from student to teacher, is the rule rather than the exception in 4-H. It is also why the Kent County Youth Fair remains so special to so many in this, its 61st year.

Brown never received that grand champion trophy at the fair for showing her livestock, but was rewarded for her dedication and service with the title of 1994 4-H queen.

"Everyone told me that they thought I would win the queen's contest, but I figured no one really knew," Brown said.

Brown was wrong. Her friends' suspicions were correct and for the past year she has represented the fair in the capacity of queen. That included attending parades and interviewing applicants for the junior court and for prince and princess.

Joining Brown were members of the court Jennifer Languche (first runner-up), Queen Silverman (second runner-up), and Skye Fisher.

It took a couple of years, but Brown, like others, learned walking away with a ribbon or a trophy is not the stick that measured if 4-H members were winners.

"I realized at the age of 13 that as long as I did my best I was a winner," Brown said. "The thing I realized is that maybe I wouldn't win, but I should still have fun competing."

Through perseverance Brown has learned about competing, not quitting, communication skills, being a good sport, taking care of animals and caring about others.

Paul Harris Fellowship Recipients

The Lowell Rotary Club presented two of its members with the distinguished Paul Harris Fellowship award. Receiving the award this year was Bob Hahn (left), pictured above. Presenting him the award was Bruce Walter (right). Hahn is a charter and honorary Rotary member. Walter reminisced about Hahn's 50-year association with the Lowell Rotary. The other Rotary recipient was Jim Reagan (pictured to the left). Reagan was recognized for his work with the DDA, the Lowell Rotary, and the Lowell Showboat.

Project leads Haybarker on path to Eagle Scout award

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

Landscaping timber, wood chips and red brick are things an Eagle Scout is made of - or at least Lowell's Jason Haybarker is.

Haybarker, Boy Scout Troop 102's most recent

Eagle Scout, organized, coordinated and labored over a one-month project.

His Eagle Scout project included grading a path and then laying the timber, brick and wood chips. The path begins in back of the high school and blazes its way down to Red Arrow Stadium.

"It was a bigger project than I thought it would be," Haybarker said, "although the hardest part was coordinating the times as to when my help could be there to work."

Haybarker, fellow scouts, friends and scoutmaster Jim Williams spent a month putting in the path. "Most of the work was done over 4-5 week-ends," Haybarker said.

The path is lined with landscaping timber and with red brick inside the timber while the inside path is filled with wood chips. "I'm very happy with the final product," Haybarker said.

The idea for his Eagle Scout project came from former high school principal Jim DeWeerd. "Brent Tichelaar, also an Eagle Scout, was given the idea after his project was already determined. He told me that Jim DeWeerd mentioned it to him and that I should talk to Mr. DeWeerd about it."

Haybarker is not the first member of his family to earn the Eagle Scout honor. His father Kraig Haybarker also achieved the honor.

"My father pushed me. He helped me stick with scouts at a time when I nearly got off the track," Haybarker said. "I also need to give credit to my scoutmaster (Williams)."

Haybarker started in Cub Scouts when he was in the third grade. He joined the Boy Scouts when he was in the sixth grade.

The 16 year old said the High Adventure program started by Rick Briggs, Terry VanderWarf and Steve Uzarski has been something that has helped keep his interest in scouts. The adventures have included biking at Grand Island, backpacking at Pictured Rocks in the Upper Peninsula and white water rafting in West Virginia.

Jason Haybarker coordinated a month-long Eagle Scout project which lays out a path from the high school to Red Arrow Stadium.

Judging Fairly

Livestock competition took center stage Monday at the Kent County Youth Fair. Above, the judge takes one more look at the goats before announcing his winner. Left, Robby Kas, 10, walks with "patches" toward the horse arena. Kas placed fourth.

Victorian Thymes, newest floral shop, to feature dried and silk flowers, and herbs for culinary and craft use

By Thad Kraus
Lowell Ledger Editor

The name Victorian Thymes fits in well with the historical aspect of downtown Lowell.

The owners of the new floral service intend to provide quality arrangements with upbeat designs.

"I think successful floral shops provide what the customer is looking for and not what the floral designer likes," said Victorian Thymes co-owner Cecilia Weatherly.

Both Weatherly and her partner, Joanne Poulias, explain that Victorian Thymes will feature dried and silk flowers. "There is a demand out there that we feel is not getting met," Poulias said.

Another feature that will help define the new floral shop is the availability of herbs for culinary and craft use.

Victorian Thymes (located next to Little Caesar's at 505 W. Main) will offer customers an extensive line of herbs.

"Herbs can be grown in pots at home or in gardens at an expense less than what customers pay for them in the store," Weatherly said. "Once fresh herbs are dried, a person won't go back to dried herbs in a jar."

Poulias (who grew up in Lowell) and Weatherly both have floral backgrounds. Poulias' is more extensive. "We worked together before at a place where we produced thousands of floral arrangements and bud vases," Poulias said. "While my background in floral work is more extensive, Cecilia has the business background."

They chose Lowell because it has a good economical base and has plans to renovate the downtown.

"They did that in Hastings a few years back and it really made a difference," said Weatherly.

Poulias said they plan on providing a different type of service and specialties.

"The floral industry is experiencing a boom and we believe Lowell is big enough to support another floral shop," Weatherly said. "This is something we both wanted and believe it will continue to grow."

Victorian Thymes' first official day of business was Tuesday, Aug. 1. Its shop hours are Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Saturday from 9 a.m. until 3 p.m.

"The support has been positive. The response in the first week has been better than we thought," Poulias said. "It's been exciting."

Pacific Intercultural Exchange host family homes are needed in Lowell

Foreign high school students are scheduled to arrive soon for academic program homestays, and the sponsoring organization needs a few more local host families.

According to Pacific Intercultural Exchange (P.I.E.)

Executive Director, John Doty, the students are all between the ages of 15 and 18 years, are English-speaking, have their own spending money, carry accident and health insurance, and are anxious to share their cultural experiences with their new American families. P.I.E. currently has programs to match almost every family's needs, ranging in length from a semester to a full academic year, where the students attend local high schools.

P.I.E. area representatives match students with host families by finding common interests and lifestyles through an informal in-home meeting. Prospective host families are able to review student applications and select the perfect match. As there are no "typical" host families, P.I.E. can fit a student into just about any situation, whether it be a single parent, a childless couple, a retired couple or a large family.

Families who host for P.I.E. are also eligible to claim a $50 per month charitable contribution deduction on their itemized tax returns for each month they host a sponsored student.

For the upcoming programs, P.I.E. has students from Spain, Germany, Poland, Russia, Finland, Argentina, Brazil, Colombia, Paraguay, Australia, New Zealand, Croatia and many other countries. P.I.E. has also been invited to participate in a special government-funded program to bring scholarship students from the Newly Independent States of the former Soviet Union to the United States. P.I.E. is a nonprofit educational organization that has sponsored more than 18,000 students from 40 countries since its founding in 1975. The organization is designated by the United States Information Agency and is listed by the Council on Standards for International Educational Travel (CSIET), certifying that the organization complies with the standards set forth in CSIET's Standards for International Educational Travel Programs.

Doty encourages families to contact the program immediately, as it will allow the proper time for the students and hosts to get to know one another before they actually meet for the first time.

Lowell area families interested in learning more about student exchange or arranging for a meeting with a community representative may call P.I.E., toll-free, at 1-800-631-1818. The agency also has travel/study program opportunities available for American high school students as well as possibilities for community volunteers to assist and work with area host families, students and schools.

IN MEMORIAM

I miss seeing you on 77A and B-4, Mike Moore. I can still hear you saying Oh Mylanta! I still look for you driving in town. Instead of a smile, I've been wearing a frown. I'm so glad I got to know and work with you those years. I just wish I could stop these tears. Someday I will see you again. I'm so glad we got to be friends. Love, Your Little Ohah

AQUARIUS January 21-February 18 A visit with a close friend or relative brings you up to date on some gossip you've missed. Ignore a catty remark from a co-worker, since their spitefulness is probably rooted in jealousy. Living well is the best revenge.

PISCES February 19-March 20 A good week for catching up on minor projects you've been ignoring. Cover all your bases before making an off-the-wall suggestion—you don't want to make others think you're a fool.

 There are people who are so much their own enemies that they prefer a misfortune they have foreseen because they have foreseen it, to good luck they did not expect. —Prince de Ligne

TO MY DEAR FRIEND, who was killed August 11, 1994. Dedicated to the one I love, Theresa Jean Ignasiak What is a friend?

What is a friend? I will tell you. It is a person with whom you dare to be yourself. Your soul can be naked with him. He seems to ask of you to put on nothing, only to be what you are. He does not want you to be better or worse. When you are with him, you feel as a prisoner feels who has been declared innocent. You do not have to be on your guard. You can say what you think, so long as it is genuinely you. He understands those contradictions in your nature that leads others to misjudge you. With him you breathe freely. You can avow your little vanities and envies and hates and vicious sparks, your meanness and absurdities and in opening them up to him, they are lost, dissolved on the white ocean of his loyalty. He understands. You do not have to be careful. You can abuse him, neglect him, tolerate him. Best of all, you can keep still with him. It makes no matter. He likes you - He is like fire that purges to the bone. He understands. He understands. You can weep with him, sin with him, laugh with him, pray with him. Through it all - and underneath - he sees, knows and loves you. A friend? What is a friend? Just one, I repeat, with whom you dare to be yourself.

To my friend: Theresa Jean Ignasiak. From your friend, Marion Rose Runnels Guastavino. Aug. 18, 1994.

In memory of our son, brother & uncle Mike Moore We would like to thank Rev. Barry for a beautiful service and for being there in our time of sorrow. To Roth-Gerst Funeral Home for all your help, we thank David Gerst Jr. and Mark Gerst for our last minute problems. To Lowell 66, thank you for putting out a memorial fund and raising $168. To the Drummer family, Deb, Mark and Brandy, whoever you are, thank you so much for the beautiful letter and money, we appreciate your kind words. To the owner, Mike's supervisor and to all the co-workers at Central States Precision Grinding, thank you all for your support and putting the flag outside at half-mass. That was sweet. To all the pallbearers, Dan Lesson, Leon McKay, Dave Normington, Roger Watters, Rick Eickhoff, Andy Stormzand, Ben Schrouder, Tom VanSiclen, David Seese and Darrin Peterson, and friends of Mike's from when we moved to Lowell in 1979, when Mike was only 12, thanks for giving him the best time of his life and being there when he needed you. Thank you all. The Moore family, Dick, Lexie, Shelli and Rhianna.

In loving memory of Cynthia May Thomas Acosta who walked with the Lord on August 9, 1994. A million times we have needed you, a million times we have cried. If love alone could have saved you, you never would have died. In life we loved you very much, in death we love you still. For in our hearts you hold a place, no one can ever fill. It broke our hearts to lose you, but you didn't go alone. For part of us went with you, the day God took you home. Our hearts still ache with sadness, our eyes shed many a tear. God alone knows how much we miss you, as we enter another year. Thinking of you, loving you always.

Your children Frannie, Cassie & Guadalupe Acosta; Mom: Frances Thomas; Dad: memory of Levi Thomas; sisters: Rose, Julie & Sandy. God Bless.

Kent County Road Commission scheduled for two hearings involving bumpy situation on roads

By Marc Popiolek
Contributing Writer

The Kent County Road Commission will visit Lowell Charter Township on two occasions to decide the fate of Pratt Lake and Timpson Avenues.

The first public hearing is scheduled for 7 p.m. on August 29 to hear comments on the proposed paving of Pratt Lake.

Residents recently filed a petition with the commission which indicates a strong desire to have the project completed.

"We have 99 percent of the people on the road wanting the road to be paved," said township supervisor John Timpson. "If there aren't too many objections, it's most likely that the project will be put on next year's list of improvements."

The Pratt Lake paving project would run from 28th Street to Cascade Road, approximately two miles.

Forty-two residents signed a petition circulated by Al Grover to pave the road because of safety concerns.

The road commission will come back to the township on September 12 to hear concerns about improving the intersection at Timpson Avenue and Grand River Drive.

According to preliminary plans handed to the township in March, the improvements would include a secondary road being built off Timpson and running west through approximately five properties before ending at a 90-degree angle on Grand River.

In conjunction with a new road, a cul-de-sac would be built on Timpson, closing the current road to through traffic.

Currently the intersection presents traffic problems because of its "blind spots" and steepness.

Township officials agree the current intersection causes problems, but would like to see any improvements routed to the east rather than the west.

"I agree the intersection is dangerous and something should be done, but I can't see going through a swamp to do it," said Richard Huver, at an earlier meeting.
